

Resilient Connecticut 2.0 Phase II

Regional Adaptation/Resilience Opportunity Areas

Name: Central Connecticut State University

Location: New Britain

Consideration	Characteristics of Area
Flood Vulnerability
Heat Vulnerability
Social Vulnerability
The campus of Central Connecticut State University is located in the northeast corner of New Britain. Multiple 1% annual chance flood zones are in close proximity to the university campus, including those associated with Bass Brook. There are stream crossings intersecting multiple roads in the vicinity, raising potential access issues if these roads are impacted by flooding; the residential neighborhood to the north of the university may also be vulnerable to this concern. Alongside high flood vulnerability, the area is also characterized by moderate heat and social vulnerability.

Connecticut Resiliente 2.0 Fase II

Adaptación regional/Áreas de oportunidad de resiliencia

Nombre: Central Connecticut State University

Localización: New Britain

Consideraciones	Características del área
Vulnerabilidad a las inundaciones
Vulnerabilidad al calor
Vulnerabilidad social
El campus de Central Connecticut State University está ubicado en la esquina noreste de New Britain. Múltiples zonas con probabilidad del 1% de inundaciones están en estrecha proximidad al campus universitario, incluyendo aquellos asociados con el arroyo Bass. Hay cruces de arroyos que interceden muchas carreteras en las inmediaciones, las cuales aumentan potenciales problemas de acceso si estas carreteras son impactadas por inundaciones; el vecindario residencial al norte de la universidad también puede ser vulnerable a esta inquietud. Junto a alta vulnerabilidad a las inundaciones, el área también se caracteriza por moderada vulnerabilidad al calor y vulnerabilidad social.
